Foreword

Ladies and gentlemen, dear colleagues,

It is said that one quickly forgets the bad and remembers only the good. However, I am afraid that the Coronavirus crisis, which threatened us all for much of 2020 or at least held us back, will be indelibly etched in our memory. All the more do we and the entire NROS team want the Annual Report for this turbulent year that I present to you to perpetuate all that has been successful in the past year. Naturally, it was largely a response to the unfavourable epidemiological, later economic, and eventually social situation in our country. So what did we do? In cooperation with the corporate sector, the foundation helped to strengthen field mobility in social and health services and bring care closer to those in need. We have adjusted grant programmes so that NGOs can better cope with the effects of the Coronavirus crisis.

We helped provide school supplies, equipment and tutoring to children in socially and economically difficult conditions. Despite the fact that the first wave of the epidemic overlapped with the peak of our flagship project Help the Children (Pomozte dětem), together with Czech Television, we managed to salvage last year. Through the educational activities of NROS, we strengthened the knowledge of dozens of NGO employees, motivated them to improve their work, communication, and management. At the same time, we have verified that the non-profit sector is very adaptable and wants to move forward, develop, and improve. In addition, thanks to the transition to an on-line environment, we secured education for those organisations that would not have been able to participate in-person. It was, after all, part of our own necessary shift towards further digitisation of the foundation's activities. We worked on the development of new programmes for young people to increase their employability in the labour market and increase student competencies. We will continue to address them in the next five years. Finally, allow me to thank all those who in any way participated in the operation of NROS and its programmes in the past year—donors, partners, suppliers, volunteers, the new director, Taťána Plecháčková, and her team and my colleagues from the Board of Directors and Supervisory Board.

Let's try—despite what I wrote at the beginning—to deal with the bad from 2020 as best we can and then forget all about it as soon as possible!

Martin Fuk, Chairman of the Management Board

Dear co-workers and partners, filled with pride and humbleness, I present you with the Annual Report for the past year, which has not been an easy one for most of us.

I present it with pride because we have been able to—in highly restricted working conditions and under the unstable situation of our partners and beneficiaries—to support over 800 projects with an amount exceeding CZK 35 million. And I present it with much humbleness because I know that this is currently only partial aid to the long-term underfunded non-profit sector. For those tens of thousands of people, who, among other things, also provide key social and health infrastructure and have shown incredible commitment in combating the consequences of the pandemic.

The past year has shown us just how vulnerable we are — as individuals, as NGOs, as an entire society and the world around us. It has shown us the importance of long-term relationships and support from the corporate sector, as well as the extent to which our work depends on mutual harmony, cooperation, and trust and, last but not least, on our own personal responsibility.

We realised, now more than ever before, the need to be prepared for anything and work with risks. We have learnt to better prioritise and look back critically. I consider it a success that we at the foundation launched a critical discussion and revision of our own activities in order to become a long-term driver and motivator of change and support for the non-profit sector, thanks to which we succeed in strengthening and developing civil society in our country.

In fact, the year 2020 was successful despite all its difficulties, especially thanks to the personal commitment and high flexibility of the entire team of the foundation, to whom I extend a huge thanks. At the same time, I thank all the donors and partners for whom we are a trustworthy entity and who, together with us, believe that the future of our country is based on the values of solidarity, reciprocity, and responsibility, but also active civil engagement.

Taťána Plecháčková, Director

About the foundation

The Civil Society Development Foundation (NROS) is a Czech non-corporate foundation that has been supporting and developing the non-profit sector and civil society as a whole since 1993. During its activity, it has supported more than 8,500 projects with an amount exceeding CZK 1.8 billion.

We support projects that help vulnerable and disadvantaged groups, promote human rights and democratic values, and otherwise revive citizens' interest in local development and public life.

We offer educational activities leading to the development and professionalisation of NGOs. We implement our own charitable projects aimed at children and young people.

We help companies with the development of their socially responsible activities (CSR projects).

Our vision

A functioning civil society complements the corporate and government sectors and is an integral part of a stable democracy. Our vision is a society of responsible, active individuals who influence public affairs and consolidate democratic values, civil rights, and freedoms, promote tolerance, show solidarity, and support each other.

Our activities in 2020 were focused on the following fields:

- Project financing of assisting organisations
- Education provided to NGOs
- Support of corporate philanthropy

Volume of paid foundation contributions:

CZK 35,362,789

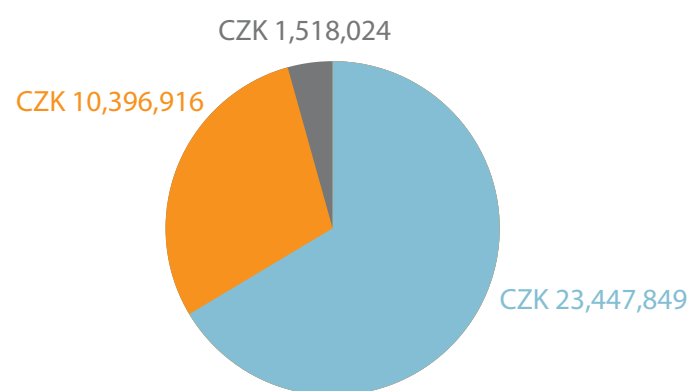

Approved projects:

885

Paid out projects:

The impact of 2020 on our team members

It was unpredictable, varied, lonely, tense, unexpected, and memorable.

It was mostly on-line for me. The on-line environment has become somewhat of a part of us.

It was a year for me to get acquainted with the overall running of the programme, creating and setting up new processes and discovering the huge potential of the foundation.

It brought a lot of changes and, at the same time, many inspiring ideas. Last year taught me to quickly find new and effective solutions, both within NROS and in cooperation with partner organisations.

It was a year of major personnel changes in NROS, of reconciling mutual work and the team. It was also a year full of struggle with complications caused by Covid from the health, work, and personal perspective. Despite this adversity, NROS held on and worked incredibly well.

NROS EDUCATIONAL CENTRE

We implemented courses, workshops, and seminars in cooperation with the NROS Association and AVPO ČR.

Thematically, we focused on organisational management, finance, fundraising, PR and marketing, law and on-line tools.

For NGOs, clients of Česká Spořitelna Bank, we tailored a training course to strengthen their financial literacy. Our tailor-made education was also demanded by municipalities, namely in the field of marketing, crowdfunding and social networks.

In cooperation with AVPO ČR, we organised two on-line conferences, Modern Technologies in Non-profits and Non-profits and On-line Security. The conference was attended by over 200 participants.

VILLA CERYCH (VILA ČERYCH)

Villa Cerych, a landmarked building in Česká Skalica, was donated to the Civil Society Development Foundation by Ladislav and Jiří Čerych in 2001. This rare architectural monument has served as a centre of enlightenment, education, and culture for almost 20 years. Because of the need for large-scale investments in the building, the Foundation's Board of Directors decided that it was no longer able to secure these investments and began negotiations with public benefit institutions and private philanthropists on a possible purchase of real estate. Due to the Covid-19 pandemic, the building was not used for most of the period and due to preventative health measures, it was not even possible to carry out educational activities for the general public.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

Financial Statements Audit Report

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Nadace rozvoje občanské společnosti (hereinafter also the "Organization") prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the Czech Republic, which comprise the balance sheet as at 31 December 2020, and the income statement for the year then ended, and notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information. For details of the Organization, see Note 1. to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of Nadace rozvoje občanské společnosti as at 31 December 2020 and of its financial performance for the year then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the Czech Republic.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Act on Auditors, Regulation (EU) No. 537/2014 of the European Parliament and the Council, and Auditing Standards of the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic, which are International Standards on Auditing (ISAs), as amended by the related application clauses. Our responsibilities under this law and regulation are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Organization in accordance with the Act on Auditors and the Code of Ethics adopted by the Chamber of Auditors of the Czech Republic and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other Information

In compliance with Section 2(b) of the Act on Auditors, the other information comprises the information included in the Annual Report other than the financial statements and auditor's report thereon. The Board of Directors is responsible for the other information.

Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information. In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. In addition, we assess whether the other information has been prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with applicable law or regulation, in particular, whether the other information complies with law or regulation in terms of formal requirements and procedure for preparing the other information in the context of materiality, i.e. whether any non-compliance with these requirements could influence judgments made on the basis of the other information. Based on the procedures performed, to the extent we are able to assess it, we report that:

- The other information describing the facts that are also presented in the financial statements is, in all material respects, consistent with the financial statements; and
- The other information is prepared in compliance with applicable law or regulation.

In addition, our responsibility is to report, based on the knowledge and understanding of the Organization obtained in the audit, on whether the other information contains any material misstatement of fact. Based on the procedures we have performed on the other information obtained, we have not identified any material misstatement of fact.

Responsibilities of the Organization's Board of Directors and the Supervisory Board for the Financial Statements

The Board of Directors is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the Czech Republic and for such internal control as the Board of Directors determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the Board of Directors is responsible for assessing the Organization's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Board of Directors either intends to liquidate the Organization or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The Supervisory Board is responsible for overseeing the Organization's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the above law or regulation, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Organization's internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the Board of Directors. Conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Organization's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Organization to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with the Board of Directors and the Supervisory Board regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.
